Ladies & Gentlemen,

Al Salamu Aalaikum Wa Rahmatu Allah Wa Barakatuh,

My presentation is basically from the perspective of an individual who has witnessed and participated in the growth of Islamic finance industry over the last 15 years. I will seek to support the view that the Islamic Investment Funds – despite contemporary challenges – are a viable alternative by outlining how an important part of any financial system – investment portfolio management – has been adapted to comply with Sharia requirements.

Conclusion

The size of Islamic Investment Funds is expected to be at least doubled during the next decade.

Islamic Investment Funds are expected to cover a much wider range of products (from short low risk leasing funds to long-term high-risk private equity funds.

Available funds in the Islamic world (Gulf states only is estimated to have US $ 300 bn. of private liquidity) will imply a growing demand for such products.

With the increasing globalization in the banking sector and mergers and acquisition some international banks are taking over smaller banks with Islamic banking units, and launching new Islamic Funds.
